An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its action on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

WHEN LAMPS ARE LOW.

Let the rain beat,
And the wind without blow down the street,
And the echo come of the city's hum,
And the distant hurry of horses' feet!
For I rest within with my love tonight,
And the lamps are low, and the hearth is bright.

Ah, love is best
That ne'er is more than half confessed—
Just half, I say; eternity
Were all too short to tell the rest!
So we rest within with our love tonight,
And the lamps are low, and the hearth is bright.

—A. Boyd Scott in Madame.

TAKING THE REINS.

Lyford Merritt was certainly a most exasperating man. In this, for a wonder, the whole village concurred, with the exception of his wife. She maintained silence on the subject which was best, perhaps, inasmuch as she was the cause of it all.

"He's—he's the most downtrodden and meek sort of man you ever set eyes on, and it ain't right that it should be so," Mrs. Blake declared, as Lyford Merritt, then under discussion, shuffled along the dusty road. "It's dreadful to see a man so suppressed," she sighed. "It ain't nature one bit.

"Some men are born meek and would rather a woman'd go ahead and boss the house and him, too, and then you don't blame 'em, but Lyford ain't that kind. 'Fore his wife got hold of him he used to be as up and coming as any one."

A slight flush spread over her thin checks as she felt a critical glance upon her.

"That was the time he came a-courtin you, I s'pose?" her guest remarked blandly. "I always heard you had some sort of words and then he took up with the new schoolteacher and married her right away 'fore your face and eyes."

Mrs. Blake beat her cake vigorously "He ain't done nothing but be set on ever since," she declared at length, "so that he ain't himself at all. And that's what's so exasperating. No man with any natural stand up to him ought to give in the way he does. That's what's the trouble. He seems to think it's all right."

She poured the cake into a tin and shoved it into the oven and shut the door with a bang.

"We've all had spells of talking to him," she went on, "but there, it ain't no earthly good. He always sits so good natured and kind of nods his head as if agreeing, and when you come to stop he looks up with his blue eyes and says 'Well, well, you don't understand. It may seem kind of hard sometimes to outsiders. Mis' Blake, but then, you see, she's got the nerves.'

"Nerves," scornfully; "as if any of us couldn't get up that kind of nerves if we wanted to. But Lyford, he just stands it always, and it's terrible exasperating."

She gave another glance out of the window. Lyford Merritt was not in sight. Unconscious of his neighbor's scrutiny and comment, he slowly crossed the stubby field and made his way to the barn. There he deposited the packages from the store and then went to the woodpile. He seemed in a sort of brown study, and his movements were uncertain.

"It ain't right for a man not to be master in his own house," he ruminated as if the sentiment had just been impressed upon his mind. "It really ain't, and I am going to assert myself."

The thought caused a stick to drop from his arms. He hastily picked it up with a backward glance over his shoulder.

"I wouldn't do anything to hurt Caroline for anything in the world. Of course I wouldn't. She's a good wife—a very good wife to me, and I'm thankful I've got such a good wife, and I hope I make her a good husband."

He paused and slowly laid two more sticks on to his burden and walked toward the woodhouse.

"And I've been thinking that perhaps it ain't good for her to have me always giving in to her," he continued as he returned for a second load. "I read somewhere the other day that women was like horses—they like to have their own way long's they can, but when you make 'em mind they go all the better. Not that I should ever try and make Caroline mind"—he paused aghast—"but perhaps if I kinder took things for granted that she wouldn't mind my doing more things I could do 'em, and she'd like it. I'm a-going to try anyway."

It was undeniable that Lyford Merritt's heart beat somewhat faster than usual as it neared 3 o'clock on the following afternoon. The town committee had ordained to have an extra meeting. It was usually held at the Perkins', but Mrs. Perkins was sick, and so Lyford had generously asked them to come there.

A few had already gathered and were sitting in the shade of the big elm. Others could be seen coming down the road.

"I suppose we might as well go in, seeing there are so many of us already," Lyford remarked.

It was an unwritten law that the meetings of the committee should always be held in some parlor or the church vestry. It was not compatible with the dignity of the committee to meet in barns or shops, as did other organizations.

The men sprang up and Lyford led the way to the front of the house, where they greeted the others. They stood a moment and chatted, while a few straggled up, then Lyford put his hand on the door.

It refused to open. He made several attempts, but it would not stir. He grew red in the face with exertion.

"It's unlocked all right," he declared, "because I saw to that this morning. You see, we don't use it very often, and that's the reason why. I'll go inside and see if I can start it."

He left the men and skirted the house, avoiding the kitchen windows and stealing in the back way, where he removed his shoes and quietly passed through the upper rooms and down the front stairs, when he put on his shoes again.

He managed to open the door. It stuck, but he had forgotten that it opened in. In fact, he never remembered having opened it at all before.

The men filed into the stuffy parlor. Some one suggested that the windows be opened. Lyford stared for a moment. There were no screens in the windows.

"Oh, yes," he replied, with a deal of energy. "Of course. I meant to have them open and forgot. Mrs. Merritt has been very busy or she would have attended to it for me."

His blue eyes twitched and he drew a deep breath as he pushed up the windows and flung back the blinds. He saw a dozen flies dart in, and he gave a quiet chuckle. His emancipation had begun.

The meeting opened with its usual solemnity, but soon it grew exciting, and there was a busy hum of voices. The men had removed their coats, and they swung like draperies from chair backs; the family Bible on the marble center table made an excellent desk for the presiding officer, and ballots and papers were liberally distributed over the floor. Some of the men were smoking.

Lyford was making a speech—it was a very excellent speech—on the freedom of the individual. His audience was interested. Suddenly there was a hush. He turned, and Mrs. Merritt stood in the doorway. Lyford gave a little gasp. The eyes of the men were upon him, and he straightened visibly.

"The meeting of the committee, you know, my dear," he explained, with the faintest tremor in his voice. "I trust we have not disturbed you." His eyes were a bit beseeching.

Several of the men were on their feet. One was struggling into a coat. Mrs. Merritt did not reply. Her keen brown eyes swept the room, and a peculiar smile settled on her face.

"I was going to suggest"—Lyford made the great effort of his life—"I was going to suggest, seeing it was so very warm, that we prepare some sort of refeshment for the gentlemen, Caroline."

There was a note of inquiry in his voice. His wife turned, and with a hurried excuse he followed. A nervous laugh from one of the men broke the tension of the moment.

"We shall have to give him an office," some one suggested.

He was gone some time, and then his wife returned with him. He carried a big pitcher of iced tea, while she bore a platter of spice cake and jumbles, which she afterward supplemented with loaf cake and pickles.

It was a very social intermission that followed. Mrs. Merritt made herself very charming, and Lyford was in the highest spirits. Then she retired, and the meeting went on. Lyford was nominated for school committee. He accepted, of course. His wife had never allowed him to run before. It would make her nervous to think of the responsibility.

At 6 the meeting broke up. Lyford escorted them to the gate and watched them as they passed from sight. Then he slowly returned to the house, gave a long look at the disordered room, closed the door and shuffled off to the shed. There he sat for several moments and drew hard at his old pipe.

The supper bell rang. At the sound he hastily started for the door. His hand was on the latch; then he hesitated, his hand dropped, and he returned to the bench, sat down and ran his fingers through his hair.

The bell rang a second time. He laid his pipe down carefully, arose, gave his vest a pull, settled his hat firmly on his head and steadfastly walked into the kitchen.

His wife was sitting by the table, pouring the tea.

He hesitated a moment. She looked very pretty as she sat there—prettier than usual, somehow. Perhaps she had on a better dress.

"Was your meeting successful?" she queried, her eyes on the amber liquid.

"Very," he replied as he crossed the room to where his coat hung on the wooden peg. "They nominated me for school committee."

She nodded her head reflectively. "You will make a good one," she said. "They ought to put good men in office."

He stared at her back. "I'm sorry the parlor"— he began.

"You needn't be," she broke in sharply. "I guess"— She set the teapot down, and, arising carefully, walked around the table and set it down at her husband's place. "I guess that a man has a right to do as he wants to in his own house."

She glanced at him proudly. One arm was in his coat sleeve.

"It's pretty warm," she remarked, seating herself again, "and, Lyford, perhaps you'd be more comfortable if you didn't put your coat on."

He sent a keen glance in her direction, and his blue eyes twinkled. Mechanically he replaced the coat and took his seat at the table opposite her.

"I think that I should," he replied.

D'Ennery's Wit.

The Empress Eugenie once asked D'Ennery, the French dramatist, after the performance of one of his plays at the Tuileries, "How did your heroine get the poison that was so necessary for the denouement?" "Ah, your majesty," said D'Ennery, "that's just what I've never succeeded in getting her to tell."

Another time the directors of a theater where his drama, "The Two Orphans," was being rehearsed, asked him what he was dissatisfied with. "Oh," he replied, "it's only that each of you has got an imbecile for a partner."

A Sure Rule.

De Canters—Is there any sure way to tell the age of a horse?

De Trotter—Yes; ask the dealer and multiply by one-half.—New York Weekly.

He Caught O'Connell.

Daniel O'Connell, the famous orator, when taking a ride in the neighborhood of his house, had occasion to ask an urchin to open a gate for him. The little fellow complied with much alacrity and looked up with such an honest pleasure at rendering the slight service that O'Connell, by way of saying something—anything—asked:

"What's your name, my boy?"

"Daniel O'Connell, sir," replied he stoutly.

"And who's your father?" demanded the astonished liberator.

"Daniel O'Connell, sir."

O'Connell muttered a word or two below his breath and then added aloud:

"When I see you again, I'll give you sixpence."

Riding briskly on, he soon forgot the incident and fell to thinking of graver matters, when, after traveling some miles, he found his path obstructed by some fallen timber, which a boy was stoutly endeavoring to remove. On looking more closely he discovered it to be the same boy he had met in the morning.

"What!" cried he. "How do you come to be here now?"

"You said, sir, the next time you seen me you'd give me sixpence," said the little fellow, wiping the perspiration from his brow.

Study It Out.

Here is a highly interesting paradox, which may amuse or bewilder, as the case may be. It is supposed to have been invented by Socrates: A. says that all Athenians are liars. A. is an Athenian and therefore a liar. Therefore his statement that all Athenians are liars is not true, and consequently all Athenians tell the truth. A. is an Athenian, and hence tells the truth. Wherefore his statement that all Athenians are liars is true. Therefore he is a liar and his statement false, and so on.

Force of Waves.

In a high gale mile long waves, 200 feet from trough to trough and 40 feet high, roar along the sea at the rate of 20 miles an hour, with a weight of 60,000 pounds for every foot of their length.

Upon these a 600 foot ship, such as the New York or the Paris, will rise like a floating leaf, but if the ill fated ship drifts upon a lee shore blows of 100,000 tons, delivered with remorseless fury, crush it like an eggshell.

A Matrimonial Musing.

The average young man thinks he is in a position to marry if he has $250 in the bank and a steady job. Hope is a great factor in a love affair. After the man is 40 he wonders how he ever did it, and when he eats pie at night and has the nightmare he always imagines that he is marrying again on $250.—Atchison Globe.

There are 26 pencil works in Bavaria, of which 23 are in Nuremberg, the great European center of the lead pencil trade. These factories employ from 8,000 to 10,000 workers and produce 4,300,000 lead and colored chalk pencils every week.

The habit of reading at the dining table is strongly condemned by L'Hygiene Moderne, though it thinks looking over the paper at breakfast is comparatively harmless.

Rewards That Are Sure, but Slow.

"The rewards of honesty and unswerving principle are sometimes slow, but that in the end they are sure and greater for their slow coming admits of no question," writes Edward W. Bok in "Problems of Young Men" in The Ladies' Home Journal. "Our principles are sometimes severely tested, but this testing is given us with a purpose. Holding fast to honorable principles is the basis upon which all sure successes are built. Some have to pass through more fire than others, but I firmly believe that the reward in the end is greater to those. What the world says of a man matters little in such a struggle. It is the great inner satisfaction which comes to a man that counts."

From the day that a young man starts out to seek his first position to the end of his business life, his health has a world to do with his success. When a young man applies to a business man for a position, his personal appearance has a deal to do with the outcome. "Personal appearance" does not mean dress alone. It does not mean exterior cleanliness alone. A young man may be clean, so far as soap and water will make him, but be disfigured by unsightly pimples, eruptions and ulcerations on the skin. These are due to impurities in the blood. The blood becomes impure because it is improperly nourished. Instead of receiving the life-giving elements of the food, it receives the foul emanations of indigestion, biliousness and costiveness.

The reason that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best remedy for disorders of this description is that it goes right to first causes. It gives a man an appetite "like a horse." It facilitates the flow of digestive juices. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, and makes the assimilation of the life-giving elements of the food perfect. It invigorates the liver. It purifies and enriches the blood. It makes the muscles strong and active. It tones and steadies the nerves. It makes a young man look as he should—strong of body, alert of brain and clean and wholesome of skin. Medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing "just as good."

"I had eczema in its worst form," writes Austin Ramsey, Esq., of Saltillo, Huntingdon Co., Pa. "I tried three doctors but got no relief. I thought it would set me wild, it itched and burned so badly. The neighbors thought I would never be cured. I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and am now well."

SONOMA, MAY 27, 1899.

R. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

THE Blacksmiths' Union, recently organized in this county for the purpose of securing living rates for shoeing horses and to prevent dishonest competition, has met with some opposition from the Santa Rosa Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, who think that the uniform rate for shoeing horses ought be $1.25 instead of $1.50, the Union's prices. At a recent meeting of the Grange the following resolution was passed :

" Resolved, That we, the members of Santa Rosa Grange, will not trade with, or patronize any blacksmith or hardware firm that belong to the so-called blacksmith's union, and we ask all grangers and tillers of the soil of the United States to join with us."

The wholesale dealers in blacksmiths supplies in San Francisco, however, are standing pat with the sons of Vulcan and will refuse to fill any orders except to members of the Union. The dealers in taking this stand claim that a blacksmith cannot shoe horses for less than $1.50 and pay his honest debts. The farmers, on the other hand, say that during these hard times horses ought to be shod for $1.25 or less. As the smithies mean business in upholding rates there promises to be a lively contest between them and the horney-handed Granger.

THE arrest and conviction of a lottery ticket vendor in Santa Rosa one day last week will go a long way toward suppressing one of the greatest evils existing in this State to-day. Thousands upon thousands of dollars are sent out of this county annually by lottery ticket dealers to enrich the thieving manipulators of the several lottery schemes which hold their so-called monthly drawings in a foreign land. It is true that a prize is drawn occasionally, but such prizes are only a bait thrown out to make sucker-catching the more easy for the lottery ticket vender. A few years ago over eight hundred dollars per month were sent out of Sonoma Valley alone for chances in the Louisiana lottery, not one twentieth part of which ever found its way back in the shape of prizes, with the result that money became scarce and bad debts kept accumulating. The same condition of affairs existed all over the State, and that is why our law-makers have endeavored to suppress the vice by making it a misdemeanor to buy or sell lottery tickets. In view of the dishonesty of the transaction and the law governing the matter law-abiding citizens should combine to arrest and convict every person engaged in the disreputable occupation, to the end that the morals of the community be improved and the earnings of the people be spent in the legitimate channels of trade.

COLONEL HUMPHRIES, well-known to many people in this county, was taken to the Insane Asylum at Ukiah last Saturday. For a number of years the unfortunate man has been living in Petaluma in straitened circumstances. From the asylum the once distinguished man will no doubt be borne to his grave unwept, unhonored and unsung. Col. Humphries was one of the 600 made famous by Tennyson in his poem, the "Charge of the Light Brigade." This handful of British cavalry, alone and unsupported, made a reckless dash at the entire Russian army in battle array at Balaklava, in the Crimean War of 1854. As Tennyson truthfully says, they rode into the very jaws of death, as less than 150 of the 600 returned from the desperate charge. As before stated, Col. Humphries was one of these. During his life time he had been honored, feted and decorated for bravery in Turkey, Great Britain and other countries. Of his medals he prized above all others that bestowed upon him by the Sultan of Turkey,

Road Sprinkling and the Rain.

The showers of last Tuesday and Wednesday saved the various road districts of this county several thousand dollars for sprinkling. The rain, which was a soaking one, thoroughly settled the dust, and put the roads in fine condition for traveling. The road sprinklers can take a rest for a month or so.

A SILVER dollar weighs nearly an ounce. Hence any letter not heavier than a dollar can go for a single two cent stamp. This is easily remembered. If you want to be more exact, take a silver dollar and a five cent piece, and you have an ounce almost to a feather's weight. Provided you haven't the silver dollar handy, use two halves or, if you have nickels only, five of them and a small copper cent will give you an ounce. As ninety-nine letters out of 100 will fall within the ounce weight, this simple system will serve for general use."—Ex.

THE Healdsburg Tribune, in discussing the Grange and the Blacksmiths' Union, says editorially : "On the first page of this issue appears a set of resolutions adopted at the meeting of the local Grange on Saturday last. These resolutions recite in effect that 'Whereas, The indications are that owing to a short fruit crop in other States, there will be a large increased demand for California fruits ; and whereas, while we are sorry for the misfortunes of other growers, we believe we should take advantage of the increased demand and raise the price of our product accordingly; therefore, resolved, that we call mass meetings of the growers to consider the necessity for combined efforts to carry our resolutions into effect.' This is precisely the action that has been taken by the iron men, and as a result the farmer is now paying an advanced price for having his horse shod, for the iron which goes into the manufacture of his wagon and for iron of every form used on the farm. As an offset to this the blacksmiths of this country and the wealthy iron manufacturers of the Eastern States will this year doubtless be compelled to pay an advanced price for the California fruit which appears on their tables. And it is not likely that they will combat this increased price by passing resolutions similar to those adopted by the Santa Rosa Grange."

SENATOR SIMS of Santa Rosa has been chosen as orator for the coming Fourth of July celebration in Glen Ellen.

Cottonseed Meal.

Cottonseed meal cannot be fed to hogs, since it is almost sure to lead to disease if fed for more than five or six weeks. I do not know of any cases in which, when cottonseed meal has been used for steer feeding, that the droppings of steers so fed have proved injurious to hogs. Begin with not over two pounds per head daily, in addition to corn and roughage, and at no time allow the quantity of meal fed to exceed five pounds if the best results from its use are sought. The droppings should all be carefully saved, as they are very rich in the elements of fertility.—W. A. Henry.

A petition to set aside estate to widow has been filed in the matter of the estate of Peter O. Dresser.

The oleographic will of J. J. Bell, who died near Healdsburg July 9th, 1896, was filed for probate on Monday, together with the petition of the widow of the deceased to be appointed executrix thereof. The estate consists of property valued at about $6,500, and all but nine acres of land is bequeathed to Geo. S. Bell, son of the deceased. The nine acres of land is bequeathed to two daughters. The will was executed on the day of the death of the testator. Marvin T. Vaughn is attorney for the petitioner.

Webb N. Pearce has begun an action against Henry G. Ellsworth, Jr., Mary A. Mugge and John Mugge, her husband, to recover on a note and mortgage for $800, executed May 7th, 1897. Robert Edgar, the well-known Oakland attorney, represents plaintiff.

In Judge Burnett's department of the Superior Court Monday morning the case of the People vs. Wm. Meyers, charged with "exploding an explosive," for the purpose of killing fish, was dismissed on motion of District Attorney Webber, owing to the insufficiency of evidence.

Attorney J. M. Thompson appeared for Ed. Tully of Healdsburg, charged with embezzlement, and filed a demurrer to the indictment. Judge Burnett took the matter under advisement.

The cases of Mary Roberts vs. T. C. Putnam, Mary T. Silvey vs. George Ivancovich vs. Thiessen was dropped from the calendar.

Receiver's account was settled and final judgment for plaintiff, amount of $157.30 entered in the case of Balsi vs. Castagnacio.

Demurrer was overruled in the case of the Savings Bank of Santa Rosa vs. Frederic Schell.

In the case of Hopkins vs. Platt demurrer was sustained and five days granted to amend.

The case of Ann Timms vs. Frank Timms was set for June 20th.

In the divorce case of J. Maud M. Atchinson vs. Fred. R. Atchinson, default was entered and the case set for May 25th.

Have You Heard Of It?

You may have heard about SCOTT'S EMULSION and have a vague notion that it is cod-liver oil with its bad taste and smell and all its other repulsive features. It is cod-liver oil, the purest and the best in the world, but made so palatable that almost everybody can take it. Nearly all children like it and ask for more.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

looks like cream; it nourishes the wasted body of the baby, child or adult better than cream or any other food in existence. It bears about the same relation to other emulsions that cream does to milk. If you have had any experience with other so-called "just as good" preparations, you will find that this is a fact.

The hypophosphites that are combined with the cod-liver oil give additional value to it because they tone up the nervous system and impart strength to the whole body.

The action of the Savings Bank of Santa Rosa vs. Marks & Newfield went over two weeks and the suit of the Napa State Hospital vs. J. T. Cunningham went over to May 29th.

Monday afternoon the case of Leonore Silva vs. J. Silva was argued in Department Two.

C. L. Darden, through his attorney D C. McDougal, has begun an action against Terry Driscoll and Hannah Driscoll to recover damages in the sum of $2000. Darden alleges that he was bitten by a dog owned by the defendants and that he thereby suffered great mental torture and bodily pain, and was unable to attend to business for a long time after he was bitten.

SONOMA COUNTY HAPPENINGS.

Hon. E. W. Davis is now in the foot-hills of Placer county, and is reported to be greatly improved in health.

Professor G. H. Wilkinson has been elected President of the Pacific Methodist College, Santa Rosa, to succeed Colonel J. S. Austin, who recently resigned the position to accept the office of Chief Deputy under Sheriff Grace.

The County Board of Education met in Santa Rosa Saturday. From eighty-two school districts there are 301 applicants for graduation from the grammar grades, probably the largest number of applicants at any one time in this county.

J. N. Holden of Rincon Valley, while working on a hay press near Healdsburg Tuesday evening, met with an accident which may cripple him for life. His right foot was caught in the follower of the press, and, before it could be extricated, it was severely crushed.

There was a crowd at Agricultural Park, Petaluma, on Thursday morning of last week to see a race between Dr. Alf. McLaughlin's bay horse, "Dr. John," and John Lawler's pacing mare. Geo. Smith drove the first named animal and Mr. Lawler held the ribbons over his roadster. Three mile heats were reeled off in 2:40, 2:42, 2:45. "Dr. John" won the first and third heats and the second heat was declared "no race" and was thrown out.

Mrs. Sarah J. Seawell died in Santa Rosa on Wednesday last. The deceased was the wife of the late Judge W. M. Seawell and was seventy-nine years old at the time of her death. She was born in Hartsville, Tennessee, and in 1853 she crossed the plains to California With her husband she settled in Napa county, but in 1873 came to Santa Rosa to locate, says the Republican. Since that time she has constantly resided there. In 1896 Judge Seawell died, and from the time of her husband's death until her own Mrs. Seawell has been gradually failing in health. Five sons and three daughters survive the deceased. They are: J. H. Seawell of Ukiah, J. W. and G. C. Seawell of Healdsburg, Mrs. M. H. Matthews and Mrs. B. S. HOW THEY SAVED THEIR HOME.

They started their new happy life of love and hope together in a trim, bright-tinted little house that stood back upon a terraced lawn. A smooth path led to the broad "stoop" and hospitable piazza. The long sweep of roof, the wide-curving "bays" and the little western turret with oriel windows bespoke ample room and light and air and gorgeous sunsets.

O, how they loved that little home! He was industrious, frugal, ambitious; she a tender wife with a heart full of devotion; and both of them determined at any cost of struggle or sacrifice to earn and pay for this cherished dwelling place, and possess it as their very own; a cosey nest in days of sunshine, a refuge in time of trouble, a fireside, a home.

HOW TROUBLE CAME.

At first it seemed smooth sailing. He was glad to work over-time, and she being deft with needle and scissors helped the neighbors with their gowns. In such ways a few dollars were added to the small, home-making fund. Day after day, early and late, they earnestly planned and toiled, never realizing that they were going beyond their strength, until the little breakdowns began to come.

Many a morning he would rise with his head feeling as he expressed it, "like a lump of lead," and no stomach for the dainty breakfast she had prepared. "O, you must eat!" she would exclaim anxiously, "You can never work without it." And all the time trying to smile, she would pass her hand lightly across her own forehead as if to brush away the pain that snapped and darted underneath.

Then came days when he could neither eat nor work at all; when his sight was blurred and dizzy, his limbs weighted down as if with shackles; his whole body full of sickness and nausea and distaste of living, and his mind dark with dismal forebodings. Describing this terrible time afterward he said to a friend:

"What troubled me most was that I could not understand what was the matter with me. The doctors said it was consumption; they did me no good. I knew something was killing me by inches. Finally I had to give up and go to bed. I could hardly lift my head off the pillow. My brother wanted to write to Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, and brought me three bottles of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and begged me to take it. I didn't have much faith but said to my wife:

"What's the use? The doctors don't help me a bit and nothing else will. At this rate I'll die anyway. This 'Discovery' can't hurt me; it may help me; I'll try these three bottles just to please Jim. He was right too. The first bottle went straight to my digestion and gave me an appetite so I relished my food. I felt as if every mouthful was doing me good and making good blood in my veins. I began to feel better and pick up my flesh; my bowels came around right and I guess my liver sort of waked up. My cough stopped. I got good and strong and in four weeks I was back at work again like a man."

HOW TROUBLE WENT AWAY.

"My wife never let on how miserable she was feeling all the while; when I found it out I made her take the 'Discovery' too and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for her nerves, and she says she's just made over new again. I sent for his great 'Medical Adviser.' It's the grandest book you ever saw. If we'd had it before, we would have saved hundreds of dollars."

Then came new hopes, new plans, new power and fresh achievements. The little home in time became their very own, earned and paid for by the erstwhile nerveless hands and brain now restored to vigor and activity by the most remarkable life-renewing "Discovery" that medical science has ever revealed to man. And when at length a sweet, fresh little life came to bless their lives, they felt that happiness was complete.

This is a true story and it cannot be told too often or too strongly. What this great "Discovery" did for this man, it has done for thousands of men and women in every corner of this Union, and in every civilized country on the globe.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is sold by all good dealers in medicines every where.

The State convention of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will be held in Santa Rosa June 28th.

DROWNED AT SEARS' POINT.

A Rowboat Capsizes in Midshipman's Slough.

Two Occupants were Saved, But the Third Went to the Bottom of the Stream.

A sad boating accident occurred at Sears' Point on Saturday evening last whereby a young man named Cement Horton, a resident of San Francisco, lost his life.

Horton was one of a party of several who arrived from the city at Sears' Point on the evening in question for a two days' outing on the game preserves of the Empire Gun Club. Shortly after their arrival three of the party, Horton, Fawn Hayes and Mrs. Davidson' left the club house and secured a row boat and started out for a boat ride. The wind was blowing quite stiff at the time and when a point near the drawbridge, which crosses Midshipman's slough, was reached the frail craft shipped a small quantity of water. This frightened the occupants of the boat and in the excitement that followed the craft capsized. All three were thrown into the water and grasped the overturned boat. Jos. Swan of San Francisco witnessed the accident and bravely went to the rescue of the drowning people. He succeeded in saving Mrs. Davidson and Hayes, but before he could reach Horton, who had in the meantime let go his hold on the upturned boat, he sank for the third time and disappeared from sight.

Efforts were immediately made to recover the body, but it was not until late in the afternoon of the next day that it was discovered floating only a short distance from the scene of the accident.

Coroner Pierce was telephoned for and held an inquest on the remains Sunday afternoon. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental drowning.

The deceased was only twenty-two years of age and at one time was a clerk in the law office of Judge Hunt of San Francisco.

Last Sunday night Constable Ohm arrested a man named Geo. Carter and recorded a charge of vagrancy against him. The offender was taken before Judge Cheney and pleading guilty was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. Constable Ohm took his man to Santa Rosa on Monday morning and upon arriving there he learned that Carter, who is a tough character and the author of many minor crimes, had been released from the county jail last Saturday after serving sixty days for petty larceny.

The Walter Phillips Estate.

Mrs. Kate Phillips, widow of the late Walter Phillips of Bennett Valley, has petitioned the Probate Court to be appointed administratrix of the estate of her late husband. The estate consist of 230 acres of land in Bennett Valley, the winery, cooperage, farming implements, improvements, etc., all of the vale of about $28,000. The heirs are the petitioner and the children of the deceased. A. B. Ware, Esq., is attorney for the petitioner.

Death of a Former Resident.

James Stocchini, a former resident of this valley but who removed to Willows, Glenn county, in 1880, died at that place on Monday, April 24th. The deceased was the trusted agent of the Willows Warehouse Company and about a week before he died, while moving a car his foot slipped and in catching himself from falling he was injured internally. Mr. Stocchini was a brother-in-law of W. W. Fowler of this place. He was native of Switzerland and aged 47 years.

WELCOME SHOWERS.

Precipitation Over Half an Inch—No Injury to Hay Crop.

The showers of last Tuesday and Wednesday gave the ground throughout the Sonoma Valley a thorough soaking. Late sown grain and pasturage were greatly benefitted by the showers as were also corn, potatoes and other garden truck. The showers also were beneficial to grapes. Although a number of our farmers had commenced cutting their hay crop little or no damage resulted from the precipitation, which according to local U. S. Signal Observer Hall's rain guage was fifty-three one-hundredths of an inch.

Sold His Farm.

Wm. H. Hilton of Kenwood has sold his farm to Mr. and Mrs. Wagner of Berkeley, Alameda county. Mr. Hilton, who has resided in this valley twelve or fourteen years, will take up his residence in Berkeley. The fact that he had sold his place was not known until last Monday, when he sent out invitations to his friends to partake of luncheon at his home. After the arrival of the guests, some fifty in number, Mr. Hilton announced the sale of his farm and introduced his company to the new purchasers.

Another Fruit Dryer.

Al. Griffith is engaged in setting up a fruit dryer on his farm near Vineburg which will be ready for this season's crop. The fruit crop, particularly apples, peaches and pears, will be very heavy in this valley and it is anticipated that Batto & Sons and the other fruit dryers will have their hands full the coming Summer and Fall.

Postage to be Reduced to One Cent.

The enormous increase in the number of letters carried in the U. S. mails makes it certain that the rate of postage must eventually be reduced to one cent an ounce instead of two cents. The President who succeeds in getting such a measure through Congress will hold a high place in the esteem of the people, but no higher, perhaps than the esteem in which everybody holds Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This medicine has an unequalled record in reducing the sickness of mankind. It gets at the starting point of disease by acting upon the stomach direct, helping that important organ in its duty of digesting food. It fills the blood with the rich, red corpuscles of health, building up the tissues that general debility has destroyed. It makes good appetites, allays nervousness, stimulates the kidneys, and makes the rundown man or woman feel like a new person. Try it.

HE SOLD LOTTERY TICKETS.

Convicted of the Offense and Sent to Jail.

Charles Schafer was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail on Friday of last week by Judge Brown of Santa Rosa for selling lottery tickets. Schafer was arrested by Sheriff Grace. He told the Sheriff that he had to sell lottery tickets for a living or starve. He claims to be an ex-soldier and to have served in the Manila campaign. He had lots of tickets with him and had them boldly displayed in a restaurant when arrested. In Schafer's valise were a lot of tickets of various lottery companies. Some of the tickets are several years old.

Granted a Non-Suit.

The trial of the somewhat sensational action brought by Charles P. Smith and his wife against the Indian doctors, White Wolf and Mohawk, came to a sudden termination in Judge Dougherty's department Wednesday morning, when his honor granted defendants a non-suit. Counsel for defendants moved the court for a judgment of non-suit on the ground that under the complaint no cause of action had been proven, and that there was a discrepancy between the allegations of the complaint and the proof offered by the plaintiffs. Mr. and Mrs. Smith traded their farm in San Luis Obispo county for the business of the doctors in Santa Rosa. They alleged false representations upon the part of the doctors and asked that the deed to the property be set aside and that the property revert back to them.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucuos lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

H. H. GRANICE, Proprietor.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1899.

Notice of Business Change.

The old saying that "the unlooked-for always happens" may be true in the present instance. The Sonoma News is no more! Having sold the paper and its good will to Mr. Granice, the business and subscription books pass into his hands. Those who are in arrears for their paper will please pay Mr. Granice and those who have paid in advance will receive the INDEX-TRIBUNE to full extent of their subscriptions.

There are three reasons I might give for making this change. It is well known that I did not buy the News with the intention of running it myself. A person usually sells a commercial commodity when the price asked is accepted. The third reason is the more potent one—our patronizing territory is too limited to properly support two weekly newspapers.

But we do need and must have for the weal of the commonwealth one good, wide-awake paper, which shall be alive to the best interests of our people, and such a paper Mr. Granice will be able to furnish us providing he has the good will and support his paper merits. So we sincerely hope all our subscribers and patrons will lend a hand.

With a thank you to our friends and wishes for the success of the INDEX-TRIBUNE we break our quill.

E. E. THOMPSON.

The Kidney Complexion.

The pale, sallow, sunken-cheeked distressed-looking people you so often meet are afflicted with "Kidney Complexion."

Their kidneys are turning to a parsnip color. So is their complexion.

They may also have indegistion, or suffer from sleeplessness, rheumatism, neuralgia, brain trouble, nervous exhaustion and sometimes the heart acts badly.

The cause is weak, unhealthy kidneys.

Usually the sufferer from kidney disease does not find out what the trouble is until it is almost too late because the first symptoms are so like mild sickness that they do not think they need medicine or a doctor until they find themselves sick in bed.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root will build up and strengthen their weak and diseased kidneys, purify their diseased kidney-poisoned blood, clear their complexion and soon they will enjoy better health.

You can get the regular sizes at the drug store, at fifty cents and one dollar, or you may first prove for yourself the wonderful virtues of this great discovery, Swamp-Root, by sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co, Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent to you absolutely free by mail. When writing kindly mention that you read this liberal offer in the SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE.

To-Nigh and To-Morrow Nigh.

And each day and night during this week you can get at any druggist's Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, acknowledged to be the most successful remedy ever sold for Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Get a bottle to-day and keep it always in the house, so you can check your cold at once. Price 25c. and 50c. Sample bottle free.

Try Allen's Foot-Ease.

A powder to be shaken into the shoes. At this season your feet feel swollen, nervous and hot, and get tired easily. If you have smarting feet or tight shoes, try Allen's Foot-Ease. It cools the feet and makes walking easy. Cures swollen and sweating feet, blisters and callous spots. Relieves corns and bunions of all pain and gives rest and comfort. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores for 25c. Trail package FREE. Address, Allen Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Her Private Punch.

The women hurried along Adams street from the Art institute on their way to the Woman's Euchre club at Handel hall.

"Just run in with me here a minute," said one. "I've got to get me a punch."

The clerk showed a collection of punches that made holes of various shapes.

"No," said the shopper. "I want just a simple, round punch—this size." And she abstracted a cardboard from her pocket that showed the size of the perforation.

"Oh, very well!" said the clerk. "We have it. But it's not called for very often for private games." And the punch was brought out and sold promptly.

The second woman wondered what her friend wanted of that particular punch, but kept her curiosity to herself. The game was exciting, and, as the friend is a good player, she won eight games. The second woman noticed this particularly. But when the score cards were exhibited the friend had 11 credit marks punched in her score card. The other woman saw then the wherefore of the particular punch they had bought. The friend had won eight games, and then had done a little punching with a private punch.

The prizes at these club contests are quite valuable, and the spirit of gambling has become so pronounced among some of the players that they are not above resorting to unfair means to capture them.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Her Evening Gown.

It is undeniable that foreign diplomats in Washington frequently find themselves at a loss owing to the novelties presented to them by American customs. Even the language offers difficulties.

Only the other day the Guatemalan minister was speaking to some Washington ladies of what he regarded as a remarkable social experience met with here at the capital. He had been invited to an afternoon reception.

"And do you know," he said, "the hostess received the guests in a night-gown!"

"Good heavens!" replied the ladies to whom this information was addressed. "Surely you are joking, Mr. Minister!"

"Not at all, I assure you," reiterated the diplomat. "It was in her nightdress that we were received—low neck and bare arms!"

"Oh, you mean evening dress, do you not, Mr. Minister?" suggested one of the ladies.

"Yes, that is what I mean," admitted Senor Arriaga; "low neck and bare arms, just like the costume for the opera or ball."

As may be imagined, the laugh was at the minister's expense. In Washington ladies quite commonly wear evening dress when giving afternoon receptions.—Boston Herald.

Feudalism In Hungary.

Inconceivable as the anachronism may seem to the western mind, the agrarian system of Hungary has not yet issued from the feudal form. The Hungarian farmer of today is virtually a serf, bound to his master, the hereditary owner of the soil which the peasant tills, by the tangible tie of personal liability. The Hungarian feudal lord of today is entitled to 50 days' labor from each male adult who dwells on his land. The seignior is at liberty to demand this feudal contribution at whatever time may seem best to him, with the frequent result that the tenant farmer is employed in gathering his master's harvests while his own crops are rotting after a rainfall or are being consumed by an early frost or suffer damage from one or more of the many possible causes which render destructive the slightest delay on the part of the harvester in gathering the fruits of a year's labor.—S. Ivan Tonjoroff in Arena.

"The Boot of Dukeronomy."

A nervous curate the other day announced from the reading desk, "Here beginneth the second chapter of the duke of Booteronomy." His vicar looked severely at him, and the young man blushed, coughed and repeated. "The boot of Dukeronomy."

There must have been germs of mispronunciation lurking in the air, for at a later period in the service the vicar read out, "I publish the manns of barriage," etc.

The curate beamed with satisfaction in spite of the solemnity of the occasion.—Household Words.

Exile Necessary.

Doctor—Your husband must have complete rest

Wife—I know it. I talk to him seven or eight hours every day so as to keep his mind off business.

Doctor—On second thought, madam, I conclude that the one chance for your husband is to take him to the hospital with instructions that no one but the trained nurse and myself be admitted.—Detroit Free Press.

Arab Music.

Arab music has been described as the singing of a prima donna who has ruptured her voice in trying to sing a duet with herself. Each note starts from somewhere between a sharp and a flat, but does not stop even there, and splits up into four or more portions, of which no person can be expected to catch more than one at a time

Wasted Grandeur.

"Men are so stupid."

"Why do you say that?"

"We paid $300 for our parlor furniture, and my husband wants me to keep the window shades pulled down at night."—Chicago Record.

An Undesirable Distinction.

Mae—Why did you let him kiss you?

Ethel—I didn't want to be the only girl he had never kissed.—New York Journal.

VICK'S SEEDS

Bulbs and Plants have gone to thousands of satisfied Customers for a half century and to celebrate the 50th year in business we have issued a Special Golden Wedding Edition of VICK'S GARDEN AND FLORAL GUIDE, which is a work of art. It has 24 pages in colors, 4 pages souvenir, and nearly 100 pages filled with handsome half-tone illustrations of Flowers, Vegetables, Plants, Fruits, etc., elegantly bound in white and gold. A marvel in Catalogue making; an authority on all subjects pertaining to the garden, with care for the same, and a descriptive catalogue of all that is desirable. It is too expensive to give away indiscriminately, but we want everyone interested in a good garden to have a copy, therefore we will send the Guide with a Due Bill for 25 cents worth of Seeds for only 15 cts. It tells how credit is given for full amount of purchase to buy other goods.

Vick's Little Gem Catalogue. A perfect little gem of a price list. It is simply the Guide condensed, finely illustrated, and in handy shape, FREE

Vick's Illustrated Monthly Magazine, enlarged, improved, and up to date on all subjects relating to Gardening, Horticulture, etc., 50 cents a year. Special 1899 offer—the Magazine one year and Vick's Garden and Floral Guide, for 25 cents.
